End User License Agreement

License terms for Trifecta HQ TradingView indicators and related software access.

EFFECTIVE DATE

July 19, 2026

1. Agreement and Covered Software

This End User License Agreement governs access to and use of Trifecta HQ software and indicators, including Trifecta Program Detector, Goldbach Time, Trifecta Liquidity, Trifecta Levels, and any updates, replacements, or future indicators made available through the membership.

By activating, accessing, or using any covered software, you agree to this EULA and the Trifecta HQ Terms of Service.

2. License Grant

Subject to an active paid membership and continued compliance, Trifecta HQ grants you a limited, personal, non-exclusive, non-transferable, non-sublicensable, revocable license to use the covered software for your own educational analysis and personal trading activities.

The license is access-based, not a sale. No ownership, source code, copyright, patent, trade-secret, or other intellectual property right is transferred to you.

3. Account Scope

The license is limited to one individual and one personal TradingView account unless Trifecta HQ gives written approval. You may not share access with another person, team, company, signal group, classroom, or community.

Use for your own personal funded or proprietary trading account is permitted, provided you do not distribute the software, outputs, proprietary logic, or access to any other person.

4. Restrictions

You may not:

- Copy, sell, rent, lend, sublicense, transfer, resell, publish, distribute, or commercially exploit the software or access rights.
- Share your TradingView account, invite-only access, credentials, alerts, private links, or restricted settings.
- Reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble, decode, extract, reproduce, or attempt to discover source code, formulas, logic, methods, or protected implementation details.
- Modify, adapt, translate, mirror, scrape, automate extraction from, or create derivative works based on the software.
- Use the software or its outputs to create, train, validate, market, or support a competing indicator, course, signal service, software product, or trading community.
- Remove or obscure branding, notices, access controls, or proprietary markings.
- Circumvent technical restrictions or use the software in violation of TradingView rules, applicable law, or third-party rights.

5. Screenshots and Public Content

You may keep private screenshots for your own journal and personal records. You may share ordinary chart screenshots for personal commentary only if they do not disclose paid materials, proprietary settings, source code, private community content, or enough detail to reproduce or misuse the software. Trifecta HQ may require removal of content that exposes protected materials.

6. Ownership

The covered software, visual designs, logic, methods, updates, documentation, and all related intellectual property are owned by Trifecta HQ, or its licensors. All rights not expressly granted are reserved.

7. Updates and Changes

Trifecta HQ may update, modify, replace, restrict, suspend, or discontinue any indicator or feature. Updates may be automatic and may change appearance, behavior, compatibility, data requirements, or functionality. Continued access to a particular version or feature is not guaranteed.

8. TradingView and Other Platforms

The software may depend on TradingView and third-party market data. You must maintain your own compatible account and comply with third-party terms. Trifecta HQ is not responsible for TradingView changes, market-data errors, symbol differences, account restrictions, outages, plan limitations, or compatibility issues outside its control.

9. Educational Tool and Risk

The software is an educational analysis tool only. It does not provide financial advice, personalized recommendations, automated trade execution, guaranteed signals, or guaranteed results. You are solely responsible for verifying information and controlling all trading decisions and risk.

10. No Warranty

To the maximum extent permitted by law, the software is provided "as is" and "as available." Trifecta HQ does not warrant accuracy, profitability, uninterrupted operation, error-free calculations, permanent compatibility, suitability for a particular market, or any specific trading outcome.

11. Term and Termination

The license begins when access is granted and ends automatically when the subscription expires, payment fails, a refund or reversal occurs, a chargeback is filed, access is revoked, or you breach this EULA or the Terms of Service.

Upon termination, you must stop using the software and any protected materials. Trifecta HQ may remove TradingView access immediately and without refund for violations.

12. Limitation of Liability

To the maximum extent permitted by law, Trifecta HQ and its owner will not be liable for trading losses, lost profits, missed opportunities, data errors, platform outages, account restrictions, or indirect, incidental, special, consequential, exemplary, or punitive damages arising from use or inability to use the software.

Any liability that cannot be excluded is limited as stated in the Trifecta HQ Terms of Service.

13. Governing Law

This EULA is governed by the laws of the State of California, subject to mandatory consumer rights that cannot be waived. Disputes are handled under the dispute provisions in the Trifecta HQ Terms of Service.

14. Changes to this EULA

Trifecta HQ may update this EULA. Updated terms apply prospectively as required by law. Continued use after an effective update constitutes acceptance where legally permitted.

Contact

EMAIL	For more or other information, please reach out to support@trifecta-hq.com